

TENNIS MATCH . . . Residents at New Horizons, Ray Watt's all-adult recreation community in Torrance, enjoy tennis at night as well as in the day on the lighted courts. The tennis courts are just one of the many recreation facilities enjoyed by residents of the development.

Top Recreation Facilities Enjoyed at New Horizons

"Residents of New Horizons are busy, happy and active people," reports Lee Schiefelbein, sales director of Ray Watt's garden home development in Torrance.

New Horizons homeowners are busy pursuing one or more of the 23 recreational activities available to residents of the unique adult community of 600 homes. Square dancing, ballroom dancing and weekly parties are but a few of the activities that provide "week-end living" every day for the active homeowners.

OTHER FACILITIES include a completely-equipped sewing room, a woodworking shop, separate sauna baths for men and women, two heated swimming pools and a nine-hole golf course. Residency in the care-free condominium development is limited to those couples in which one spouse is 35 years of age or older. Single persons must be at least 35 and no children under 18 may become permanent residents.

Priced from only $19,995, New Horizons Gold Medallion homes are available in two- or three-bedroom models. Carpeting is wall-to-wall throughout and all models have two baths.

WORKSAVING kitchen aids include built-in "electric range and over, a 140-degree warming oven, an electric dishwasher, and a food waste disposer.

Separate thermostats in each room control the in-ceiling radiant heating, providing draft-free year-round comfort.

Four easy-to-reach attractively furnished models are located on Sepulveda Boulevard between Crenshaw Boulevard and Hawthorne Avenue in Torrance. All models are open from 9 a.m. until dark daily. The sales office telephone is 325-6161.

WORTH $20 MILLION

County Gets 180 Miles Of Subdivision Roads

Subdivision plans throughout Los Angeles County during the past eight months will result in nearly 180 miles of new street construction worth $207 million, Supervisor Burton W. Chace has disclosed.

As chairman of the Supervisors' Road Committee, Chace said the street costs are borne by individual subdividers, and work is done to county specifications.

"During the past eight months," he pointed out, "nearly 80 miles of new streets in 138 tracts have been added to the County Highway System."

"VALUE OF these improvements was $9,209,000," he added.

Within this same period, the County Road Department has approved plans and specifications for 153 other developments totaling $11.5 million in developer costs for subdivision street work.

This program, Chace said, will involve nearly 90 miles of new roads of which 18 are master plan highways.

"The important part of this program," the supervisor added, "is the developers' gratis dedication of rights-of-way to the county for road purposes."

"This, of course, represents a tremendous dollar saving to the public," he pointed out.

In addition, the road department during February approved projects for construction of streets valued at $3.3 million within 23 proposed subdivisions.

Supervisor Chace said Road Commissioner N. H. Templin should be highly commended for the efforts of his department in planning for the county's vast road network serving millions of Southland motorists.

"It is important that this extensive highway construction activity keep pace with the needs of this growing metropolitan area," he said.

Never on Monday, He Says

The County Veterans Service Office in Long Beach is asking vets who need help in filing VA claims to call at the Long Beach office on Wednesday through Friday of each week because the veterans representatives have been literally "snowed under" on Mondays and Tuesdays.

County Service Officer Arthur H. Tryon said today that for several months the caseload on Mondays and Tuesdays has been so high that the veterans representatives on duty have been unable to devote an adequate amount of time in handling each vet's problems.

AT THE SAME time, the latter part of the week has been comparatively light. For this reason he has asked veterans, whenever possible, to come in on Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday to balance the week's caseload.

"In this way a veteran will receive the proper attention he needs in discussing his problem and in filing a claim for VA benefits," Tryon explained. "We are asking veterans and their dependents to cooperate in this matter because often their cases are complicated and require careful analysis."

The Long Beach office is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 415 W. Ocean Blvd., Room 301.

Advertising Agenda Wins Three Awards

Medallion Home and area development advertising placed by Southern California Edison Co. in Southland newspapers has won international honors in the Public Utilities Advertising Association's 1965 Better Copy Contest. L. E. Jenkins, Edison district manager has announced.

Edison's award-winning Medallion entry was in the advertising contests' No. 1 category: "a complete advertising program using three or more media." The program included newspaper and magazine advertising, customer bill inserts, and other material.

Edison also won two other awards in the advertising contest. They were "best institutional television commercial" and "best single newspaper advertisement on any subject" categories.

Two Tracts Approved on Peninsula

Plans for two Palos Verdes Peninsula subdivisions have been approved by the Regional Planning Commission on application of Omega Development Co. of Fullerton.

A four-acre tract, containing 12 single-family lots, will be located north of Palos Verdes Drive South and West of Palos Verdes Drive East.

The second subdivision, containing nine lots in three acres, is adjacent to the 12-lot subdivision.

County Gets Low Bid on Sewer Line

The county has received an apparently low bid of $67,004 for an assessment district installation of sanitary sewers in Eastvale Road in the Rolling Hills area, according to Supervisor Chairman Burton W. Chace.

The bid, submitted by N. J. Vusich, Los Angeles, was low among 10 offers received. Bids ranged to a high of $67,998.

The improvement will provide main line sewers and house laterals in the district bounded by Palos Verdes Drive North, Crenshaw Boulevard, westerly boundary of Rolling Hills and Tract 14114.

Street Work to Begin in Lomita

A program of street improvements is now under way in the City of Lomita.

Eshelman Avenue is being considered for early improvement under this program. Property owners along this street are being requested to join with the city in the improvement program.

Vista Del Mar Big Homes Built on Peninsula

Luxury living is the theme of the new Vista Del Mar Estates, built on the slopes of the Palos Verdes Hills by builder-developer James N. Starbird.

Olympic-sized master bedrooms and large living rooms are featured in the homes, which offer a view of the blue waters of the Pacific Ocean and Catalina Island.

Master bedrooms contain 295 square feet, not including the dressing room, walk-in wardrobes, and master bathrooms. Vista Del Mar features three other bedrooms and two more baths. Large rumpus rooms and fireplaces are built in every one of the tri-level homes.

Keypoints of the medallion all-electric kitchens include built-in range top and oven, ventilating hood, dishwasher, and a harmonious color combination.

The 2,500-square-foot homes may be purchased through a unique trade-in plan developed by the developers. The plan provides for outright purchase of the old home after a full appraisal of its value, less minimum costs. Equity in a trade-in home is applied to the new Vista Del Mar home.

Prices start at $48,000. Conventional financing is available with as little as 10 per cent down. An interest rate of 5 1/2 per cent is available.

Furnished models may be inspected by taking Pacific Coast Highway to Western Avenue and turning south on 25th Street. Models are open daily.

He is a director of the national association of manufacturers, a trustee of Drexel Institute of Technology, and serves on the board of director of Lear Siegler, Trans World Financial and Gilco, Inc.

TRANSFERRED

George H. Gower, formerly assistant manager of the Torrance Security First National Bank, has been transferred to the San Pedro branch. He will serve in the same position.

LIVING SPACE . . . Huge living rooms are just one feature of the Vista Del Mar homes on the top of the Palos Verdes hills.
